Boys Get Lazy, Beards Grow Long

If a bearded individual should come up behind you and give a resounding war whoop, don't be surprised or frightened for it is not Dangerous Dan McGrew; it is, in all probability, just one of the boys who has grown tired of the razor, or is broke and wants some excuse to get turned down by some girl he owes a date to, but doesn't want. In other words, the Fiesta Beard Growing contest is well under way.

This year the beards will be divided into four classes which include, best Spanish beard ensemble, fullest uncut beard, best cut beard, and the scrawniest or fuzziest beard.

I am an ardent "funny fan". I dare say so are you. All of us belonging to this clan may feverently thank God that we have recently had an increase in the comic section. I see by the latest that Mrs. Beryl McVey boasting a gross of 100 pounds has K. O'ed her 210 pound spouse. He charges her with cruelty and pummeling him. They ought to put the bout on the market.

That's almost as funny as these charges of mental cruelty. I suppose the divorce aspirant got a headache from her lesser half's pipe. And we call the Chinese queer!

And then there's the relief frauds. Los Angeles is doing right well by the imposters. She has twelve of the beggars in hand at present and has dope that threatens to give a host of others that barred complexion.

Now gentlemen, I realize that it is not pleasant to have a stink bomb cast in your direction. Still there is little doubt in my mind that a bit of reformation in the local precincts would find a few of the more unworthy out on the cauliflower.

I know and you know that a great many of our students have not used the relief money discriminatingly. No, it is going in a much better direction than originally planned—date tariff. Personally I think social activities are half of the college life, but there is such a thing as ever doing it.

Here is a real scoop. Tonight on Hollywood Hotel which reaches Southern California listeners at 6:30 p. m. via KHJ, Louella Parsons will present as her guest artist none other than Mae West. What with Mae having been accused of being married way back in 1911, and she of course denying it, the interview will be interesting. Mae claims she was never married but, of course, her memory is not so good and she can't be expected to remember way back to the year of 1911.

For mighty fine music of the dance variety we suggest that you listen to station KFI tomorrow night between the hour of five and six. Incidentally, Kay Thompson and the rhythm kings who are Pacific Coast material are featured artists on this program. Lennie Hayton continues to please with his super modern versions of the hits of the day as presented on the piano.

Jack Benny, Mary Livingston, Frank Parker, Don Bestor and the whole jello gang are now out in Hollywood making another picture. Incidentally, Bestor played to a packed house at the Civic in Pasadena both nights he appeared last week.

The Casa Loma orchestra has added another saxophone player and now boasts the outstanding sax section in the country. At the present they have six sax tooters, five brass, drums, guitars, piano, and string bass. The grand total of the band now numbers sixteen.

Did you know that the composition "Soon" from Bing Crosby's picture, Mississippi, was the most popular song last week according to the reports from the various stations.

Politics, Parties, and Platforms

Poastmaster General James A. Farley Writes of Democratic Problems and Policies

By HON. JAMES A. FARLEY

(Chairman, Democratic National Committee)

This is the first in a series of articles on the programs of the major political parties and their relationship with the college student of today written especially for El Don and the Associated Collegiate Press. The second of the series, to appear in El Don a week from today, will be written by Roy M. Harrop, national chairman of the Farmer-Labor party. On May 17 we will publish an article by Henry P. Fletcher, chairman of the Republican National committee.—Editor's note.

I know that it is customary to tell the young men and women that the nation is their inheritance and that it will devolve on them, before the passage of many years, to run this government of ours and to charge themselves with the destiny of the country.

I would like to amend this rather declaration. It seems to me that NOW, and not merely the future, represents the opportunity of youth. It is a time of change—not a change in our system of government or a change in our Constitution—but a departure from old processes, a recasting of method consequent to new situations and new problems.

You may notice, if you read the outcries of our Republican opponents, that no inconsiderable part of their criticism is directed toward the presence in the government of men and women comparatively young. And, perhaps, you young college students may note the parallel of these times with the strenuous period at the birth of the Republic. One would think, if he listened to Republican statesmen, old in years and ancient in ideas, that our great President had gone into the highways and by-ways to dig out mere infants to aid him and advise him in the conduct of the government through a period of great stress.

Contemporary Figures

Fortunately, most of these contemporary figures, who are as out of date in their governmental theories as those represented in the oil paintings with their old-fashioned clothes and periwigs, have been retired by the people. Fess of Ohio; Smoot of Utah; Watson of Indiana; Arthur Robinson, of the same state; Moses of New Hampshire; and many others have been replaced by able, energetic Democrats who are in step with the spirit of the time.

The college youth of the nation played a great part in the retirement of these reactionaries who remained on the political stage so long beyond the period when their usefulness had ceased. It was the youth of the country, with fresh ideas, with impatience at the old, helpless, drifting order that had dominated this country for a dozen years, who had the courage to face the economic wreck into which the country had been permitted to sag, and who made possible the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt and last November gave his administration the most complete endorsement ever received by a President of the United States since the early days of the republic.

It was not by ambition alone that the towering figures in Democratic politics today reached their high goals. More important was the zeal to be of service to their country. Men do not gain the higher ranks of our government simply because of the desire for power or a place in history. Occasionally, of course, somebody gets there by accident, but in 99 cases out of a hundred they achieve these high places because what they have shown in capacity and in public interest has been so impressive that the people have been willing to accept what the record shows as a title to promotion.

Politics a Necessity

Party politics of the most practical kind is a necessity in a nation committed to the two-party system. Organization is the keystone to party success. But all the activities of the politician, all the expedients of election strategy amount to little unless the candidate for whom they are performed is worthy of the office in which the party strives to place him.

Even party success does not add much to the historical total of accomplishment unless success in election is followed by success in administration. That success can only be achieved by real devotion to the public welfare. The people are as quick to punish as to reward when it comes to public office.

Unsuccessful politicians like to dwell on what they call the fickleness of the voters. It is not the people who are fickle. They put men in office to do the work of government—to do what is best for the country and most in accord with the national desire.

True, we have now, and always have had, vociferous minorities who have clamored for this or that radical measure. These have been very noisy at times and the loudness of their clamor has given a false impression as to their number. But beneath the smoke raised by the advocates of economic and political nostrums, advertised to cure our troubles overnight, there is a great and controlling body of citizens whose votes take care of the nation's destiny. It is a curious thing that while no business man would care to be told how to run his business by one without experience in such a business, in the case of government—the biggest business of all and concerning everybody—many a man with a loud voice and a theory feels he is more competent to administer the nation's affairs than one whose life has been spent in the public service.

Period of Stress

I think you will agree with me that our Republic is passing through a period of as great stress as it has ever experienced since the days when the young men stood to their guns barefooted, ragged and hungry with Washington, making the struggle for our national independence. You may be sure that in that time there were not lacking voices of advisers who counselled them to admit failure and go back to foreign allegiance, pointing out that independence was an idealistic dream of immature minds engaged in a reckless experiment.

The mental processes of Tories do not vary. They abhor any kind of change and never cease to cite each difficult attempt to make things better as an evidence of the breakdown of whatever is being undertaken. The Tories of the days of Valley Forge talked and thought along the same lines as the Tories of 1935.

Their doleful prophecies of disaster failed then, as they are failing now. But let us not forget that the Revolutionary War lasted much longer because of the shooting from the rear and the encouragement of the enemy by those who would not realize that destiny may be delayed but cannot be averted by such guerrilla tactics.

The favorite target of those who today would like to see the administration of President Roosevelt other than a success is the size of the fund required to combat unemployment and to keep people alive—people whose destitution comes through no fault of their own but by reason of a great economic disaster in which the whole world shares, and from which, incidentally, the United States of America is emerging more definitely than any other great nation.

About Tax Rates

These critics of the administration shudder at the thought of increased taxes in the future. I wonder how they would feel if, instead of a problematical prospect, they were paying today and had been paying for years such tax rates as Great Britain, for example, has had to impose upon the subjects of King George? Whatever the price of saving our millions of unemployed and their families from famine and cold, that price must be paid. Some military authority estimated in 1919 that another year of war would have brought our national debt to fifty billion dollars. Does anybody suppose that our nation would have faltered at that staggering debt if the alternative had been the loss of the war and the appalling consequences of a peace imposed upon us? In comparison with such amounts, our contemplated expenditures for saving lives instead of for killing people seem anything but extravagant. Nor is the problem of reducing the resulting national debt going to be a task beyond the capacity of the nation to perform.

You will recall that during the days of our prosperity the national debt was steadily diminished and that taxes by which this was accomplished were by no means unendurable. We are a bigger, richer country than we were then.

Spice Of Sport

By Marvin Spicer

One of the urges during these balmy spring days is to cut classes and trek to the beach. That is the desire of the hoi polloi, of the bourgeoisie, of the average man. Along about the latter part of April every sports writer (and would-be scribe) is barbed by two desires: (1) to prognosticate the outcome of the major leagues and (2) to pick the results of the conference track meet prenately, as it were.

A well-wisher at heart, this writer has put down the way in which the runners will finish at San Bernardino tomorrow. Your wagers may now be placed with an easy mind. Forewarned is forearmed!

Tankers To Clash With Pomona Soon

Tentative arrangements for holding the Don-Pomona college swim fest in the Tustin high school plunge next Wednesday are being made by Coach Bill Cook. The Tustin plunge is of different length from any of the Santa Ana plunges and the diving boards are better located in reference to the afternoon sun, according to Santa Ana nators.

The Pomona team has had several meets this season and have been successful in most of their starts against four year institutions so they have the advantage in the advance dope by a great deal. They will be led by 'Sonny' Turnbull, their captain who swims some exceptionally fast times in the 220 and 440 yd. free style races.

The competitive strength of the Don swimmers is as yet an unknown quantity as they have not engaged in tough competition. In their only start of the season, they made a "little slam" against the Santa Ana high squad by winning all but one event, the 50-yard free style. The Dons are expected to be strongest in the relays. The chief difficulty that will arise from the other events is the fact that each man will have to swim several events due to lack of numbers of swimmers, according to the swimmers themselves.

The Dons are expected to trek to Long Beach to have the affair that was postponed because of the spring vacation with that institution on Thursday.

Dons Enter Division Meet Tomorrow

Six Schools Enter Big Meet Held At San Berdoo Field

BULLETIN

It appeared improbable at a late hour today that Holman will be able to compete tomorrow because of his spiked foot.

With seven Eastern jaysee conference track teams assembling at San Bernardino tomorrow morning for preliminaries and finals in the afternoon, the all-conference track and field meet gets under way with Coach Bill Cook's Dons one of the ranking favorites along with Riverside, San Bernardino and Fullerton.

Riverside and Santa Ana have been made the logical favorites as both are undefeated in dual meet competition, with Fullerton and San Bernardino given a good chance of spilling the dope bucket.

Coach Bill Cook's Dons will have one of the strongest track aggregations that ever represented Santa Ana in conference competition, but it will take better than average performances from every member of the Dons squad to win. Captain Lucian Wilson and Kenneth Vandruuff, the two best hurdlers in the conference will have to be at their best. There is a possibility these two may score some 20 points between them, depending on the results of the high jump and 100 yard dash.

Rudy Holman should win the two mile with stern opposition from Smith of San Bernardino and place well up in the mile. Joe Frias and Al Clark, other Don distance stars are expected to pick up a few much needed points. Ray Craft looks like a good bet for first in the 880, Koepsel should win one of the sprints from Stedman and possibly both, and Frank Boyd the Kansas flash may pull and upset in the 440 and win from Fullerton's Mallot, with Major Anderson of Santa Ana given a strong fourth.

"Jig" Kroener, Walt Gunther, and Ray Cokely, Cook's big weight men, are all expected to place with Kroener given a good chance of pulling a surprise in the high jump, an event he enters just for his own amusement. Al Parr and Ray Sides, the Dons midget broadjumpers, are not expected to be much higher than third or fourth tomorrow, Al Parr is capable of jumping 23 feet if his bum ankle has had enough rest. Loren Lukens may pick up a point or two in the pole vault.

Owens, Warren To Meet In Handball

The lagging handball singles tournament is brought to a close this afternoon at 2:30 when Claude Owens and Harris Warren clash in the finals. The match will be a two-out-of-three games tussle played on the Y. M. C. A. court.

Owens won this way to the finals by beating Downie, Thompson and Busch.

Warren entered the finals by beating Bill Graupensperger 12-21, 21-17, 21-18. He previously won over Yorba and received a default from Schwarm.

Net Squad Idle But Wetherell And Davis Play

While Lewis Wetherell and Oris Davis are at Ojai, representing Santa Ana junior college in the doubles and as two singles entrants, the rest of the Don tennis team will rest up this week in preparation for Fullerton and San Bernardino.

The strong Santa Ana aggregation, defeated Riverside last Friday 12 to 11.

Because of a lack of players, the Don team had to forfeit one of the doubles or two singles matches so Coach "Alabama" Flint decided to give them a five point lead by defaulting the first doubles and then proceeded to overtake them and beat them by one point.

Dave Styring and Gorton Davis, who have yet to lose their first match, won the second doubles very handily by scores of 6-1 and 6-3. These two net stars have accounted for four digets in every match played so far this season.

Equally important was Lewis Wetherell's win in the first singles. Wetherell is without a peer in this conference and the only thing that will prevent him from winning the conference championship will be if Flint decides to enter a doubles team with Wetherell in that.

"Slim" Davis, usually good for a win met his Waterloo however, and was defeated only after a hard fought battle. Davis played second singles.

Kenneth Nissley came through with the win and necessary points to win the match. Nissley won in three sets with scores of 6-0, 4-6, and 6-3. The third singles player has been effective all season, first as a doubles partner for Wetherell and now as a second or third singles man.

Julyan Spencer lost the fourth singles match 6-4, and 6-2.

Two Teams In Tie For Diamond Lead

Having upset the favored Pomona nine last week only one major hurdle remains in the path of the Fullerton Yellowjackets in their march toward the conference championship. San Bernardino, a consistently strong baseball center, is the remaining obstacle. The Hornets and Indians clash tomorrow at San Bernardino in a make or break game.

Results of last week's games: Fullerton 6, Pomona 5. San Berdoo 8, Riverside 4. Citrus 21, Santa Ana 1.

Dons Meet Riverside Tuesday For Dual Meet Championship

Officials Drop Baseball Sport From Curricula

Thoroughly convinced that the national pastime holds no warm spot in the hearts of the junior college men, officials today declared the discontinuance of baseball here.

Inasmuch as less than nine men appeared for practices, and only four of these regularly, it is not worth while for Coach Blanchard Beatty to spend his afternoons trying to guide the diamond destinies of such a small squad.

The lack of proper pitching talent so weakens the nine that it does not make Santa Ana a worthy representative in the Eastern conference circles.

The Dons will forfeit the rest of the conference games. Riverside was scheduled for today. To date the club has lost to Pomona's champions, 7-0; and to the Citrus Owls, 21-1.

Players checking in their uniforms are lettermen Clyde Birdson and Lou Madden; and rookies Cliff Lee, Yoshiki Yosheda, Harold Youel, Dick Moore, Harry Owings, Allen Mackay, Charles Ishii, Frank Davis, Gil Yorba, and Tom Lacy.

Trackmen Wallop Fullerton 81-50

Registering their fourth straight Eastern conference dual meet win, Coach Bill Cook's sensationally improved track team ran roughshod over the Fullerton Hornets 81-50 at Poly field, April 12. Two all-time Santa Ana jaysee records were smashed during the course of the afternoons festivities by Don athletes. Rudy Holman broke Bob Vawter's mile mark of 4:34.7, when he hit the tape in 4:32.9. Captain Lucian Wilson cracked his own low hurdler mark by two tenths of a second by running 24.6.

Upsets were the order of the day when Koepsel won both dashes from the favored Stedman, and Ray Craft's surprise win over Jack Chewning in the 880 in the fast time of 2:22s., Frank Boyd ran a gritty race in the 440 losing by inches to Mallot in 50 flat, Kenneth Vandruuff tied Berkeley at 6 ft. in the high jump, and Frank Kroener won the shot from the favorite Littlejohn with a toss of 40:2 just short of Daneri's school record of 40.3.

Bill Cook, track coach, has a difficult task on his hands getting his men hopped up for the two most important track engagements of the season. The Don track mentor must have his men in shape for the all-conference tomorrow at San Bernardino and then three days later they meet Riverside in a crucial battle that decides the dual meet championship of the Eastern-conference.

Riverside and Santa Ana have not met in dual competition which leaves the winner hard to pick. The meet was scheduled for earlier in the season but was postponed twice because of weather conditions. For this reason neither Fred Montpelior of Riverside nor Walt Gunther of the Dons will be allowed to compete, because they were ineligible at the time when the meet was first scheduled. Both are all-around men and will be sorely missed by their respective teams.

Kilday, a sprinter and all-around man, and Hucklbridge, a weight man, are the big guns for Bill Nuefield's gang. They can be expected to score plenty of points between them. Bill Cook is relying on Vernon Koepsel and his weight stars Cokely and Kroener to break up this powerful combination. Jones of Riverside is expected to push Frank Boyd in the "quarter", and the pole vault, promises to be a close event.

OWL NINE ROUTS DON BASEBALLERS

Pounding the offerings of reserve pitchers Lou Madden and Gil Yorba all over the park, Coach Al Clayes' Citrus Owls walloped the Don baseball team 21-1 in a game played during Easter recess.

While the ineligibility of Tom Lacy, ace gunner, made the locals weak defensively the offensive tactics were equally futile as the Citrus chukker limited the local aggregation to two hits.

SPICER ATTAINS PING PONG LEAD

Having registered successive wins over Duncan Clark, Harry Blades, and Kenneth Nissley, Marvin "Rocky" Spicer today reached the finals in the second semester ping pong tournament. Spicer defeated Nissley 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 for his latest victory.

Boys Are in the Bush

The fellows are finally getting a break. (They've been getting broke all Easter vacation.) Now the tablets are turned. For ages women have been allowed to masquerade behind lipstick, rouge and powder. Fellows never were allowed to hide their faces if they were ugly, unless they went around with a hanky in front of their maps all day, acting like they were blowing their schnozzles or something. Now like a godsend we have the Beard contest. All one has to do is let his whiskers grow, and he'll look like someone hiding behind a bush (no one knows if its Clock Guble or Double C Fields, so you can just go on hiding for the rest of your life, and maybe some of them will always think its Clock. Don't shave and shatter the delusion.)

bow of gold to this country. The billions spent in relief do not have to be paid in a day or a year. And so, when our period of stress is over, you will find the national debt being paid gradually, almost painlessly, and by the time you young college men and women are running the business of this country, the fears of today will seem in retrospect no more substantial than those that existed a dozen times during the life of our nation. Those fears now live only in the pages of the history books and other volumes that are consulted by the school men who are concerned with the age-long story of finance.

In any event, we must go through with what we are doing. Nobody as yet has offered a serious alternative to President Roosevelt's recovery program. There is a lot of grumbling, naturally; some of it by those who can see no virtue in anything a Democratic administration does, some of it by those impatient ones who think that miracles are possible by which a disturbed world can be set aright overnight.

They have no intelligent substitute to offer for the course being followed by the President. But they have a delightful time construing every ripple on the sea of politics; every disagreement between a few minor government officials; every error in the recovery processes to which attention is called when that error is corrected, as evidences of the failure of the program.

I suppose that such things are unavoidable in a politically-minded country, particularly as there are no real issues on which the administration can be challenged. The verdict of last November's election shows how little impression this sort of thing has on the public mind.

This is about as good a time as any to tell you that what has happened and is happening is no surprise, either to the President or the rest of the administration you put in power two years ago. Franklin D. Roosevelt had no delusions as to the magnitude of the task that confronted him when he came to the White House. He knew then and has never lost sight of the difficulties that lay ahead of him.

Fortunately, he is a man of infinite patience as well as capacity, courage and industry. He has met each situation as it arose without panic, without discouragement and without the slightest lessening of his faith in the ultimate outcome. Under such a leader, the war against adversity is bound to result in victory. You placed him where he is. You put the burden of recovery upon his shoulders. And as a closing word I summon you now to give him the same loyalty, the same confidence, that you exhibited in 1932 and 1934. I know that the call will be heeded by you and that you will celebrate with him a final victory more important to our beloved country than any victory we have won.
